

Copyright Infringement Notice:

A copyright infringement notice is required to be addressed to legal@aniboom.com

The infringement notice should include four material issues, as follows:

1. A declaration that you are the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.
2. The identity and specifications of the copyright work you claim to have been infringed.
3. The identity and specifications of the work you claim to be infringing your rights in the said copyright work.
4. A declaration of your intention to commence legal proceedings against the alleged infringer.

Following the receipt of your notice, and provided that we can locate the alleged infringer, we intend send the alleged infringer a copy of your notice and to demand from the alleged infringer to remove the allegedly infringing material from our site, or take any other steps as based on careful consideration.

In the event your copyright infringement notice is discovered to be false, we reserve our rights to take any legal measure we are entitled to under the law against you.
